

Project based Learning Outcomes

For IGCSE students

Research

The primary learning outcome of this project is to develop your ability to conduct research efficiently and effectively, thereby enhancing your knowledge and understanding in your field of study.

Analysis

You will develop the ability to think critically, analyse, and evaluate real-world scenarios through the application of theoretical constructs and arguments. This will enhance your problem-solving skills and your ability to bridge the gap between theory and practice.

Evaluation

You will develop the ability to critically evaluate and express your own opinions on issues of global importance. Through deepening your knowledge and understanding, you will enhance your capacity to engage thoughtfully and confidently with complex global challenges.

Collaboration

You will develop the ability to collaborate and work well with others, enhancing your teamwork and interpersonal skills. This collaborative process will enable you to contribute to and benefit from diverse perspectives and expertise.

Reflection

You will develop the ability to gain and reflect on knowledge, which will pave the way for identifying future areas of interest. This reflective process will enhance your self-awareness, critical thinking, and strategic planning skills.

Communication

You will develop the ability to communicate your ideas confidently and effectively. By learning how to inform others and raise awareness, you will enhance your skills in motivating action on important issues.